GLASSMAN HOLLAND RESEARCH FELLOWSHIP
2008/2009

The Albright Institute, the oldest American research center in the Middle East, provides an unparalleled international cultural environment and a unique program which spans the broad spectrum of Near Eastern studies from prehistory to the early Islamic period. This includes the disciplines of archaeology, anthropology, art history, Bible, historical geography, history, and ancient languages and literature, religion and related subjects.

The three month Glassman Holland Fellowship is open to all European post-doctoral researchers who are permanently resident in Europe. The purpose is to give European scholars in the humanities an opportunity to broaden their knowledge of current research in Near Eastern Studies in Israel, to provide them with scholarly resources not available to them in their home institutions, and to offer them opportunities to interact with both local and foreign scholars through the Albright's fellowship program. The fellowship award is $12,000, which covers a stipend, living and miscellaneous expenses.

Applications must be received by March 15, 2008.

Details and application materials can be obtained from the Albright website:
